Teamwork Contract

Team 10
Team Members: Ethan Davenport, Daniel Craig, Alex Marquez, Charles Lutz
Electrical and Computer Engineering Department
Tennessee Technological University

Introduction

This teamwork contract outlines the agreed-upon expectations, responsibilities, and guidelines for effective collaboration among the members of Team 10. By adhering to this contract, we aim to foster a productive, respectful, and supportive team environment conducive to the success of our project.

Team Expectations

1. Participation

- Expectation:
    - Actively participate in all team meetings and discussions.
    - Engage fully in project activities and contribute ideas.
    - Notify the team in advance if they are unable to attend a meeting.

2. Contribution (Progress on the Project)

- Expectation:
    - Complete assigned tasks correctly and on time.
    - Contribute equal effort to the project's progress.
    - Willing to share information and help when needed.

3. Communication

- Expectation:
    - Professional, respectful, and considerate.
    - Contact on preferred platform (Text or Microsoft teams)
    - Inform members which platform you contact on.

    - Responsive, with replies to inquiries within 24 hours on weekdays.
    - Not expected to respond on weekends

4. Meetings

- Expectation:
    - Frequency: The team will decide the previous week when to meet, at a minimum of twice a week
    - Attendance: Members are expected to attend all meetings unless unforeseen circumstances occur
    - Members should come prepared, having completed any agreed upon tasks or research.
    - Can change meeting times based on team agreement

5. Conduct

- Expectation:
    - Treat each other with respect and courtesy.
    - Listen actively and allow others to express their ideas without interruption.
    - Address disagreements professionally and constructively.

6. Conflict Resolution

- Expectation:
    - Address conflicts in person (preferred) or through text (secondary)
    - Use these steps to resolve issues:
        - Discuss the issue privately between involved parties.
        - If unresolved, bring the issue to the team for discussion.
        - Seek input from the instructor if necessary.
    - Focus on finding mutually acceptable solutions.
    - Warning Process for Non-Performance:
        - Direct Discussion: The team will hold an internal meeting with the member to review missed expectations and establish clear, written action items.

        - Written Warning: If performance does not improve within 3–5 days, the Team Leader will issue a formal internal warning outlining specific deliverables required.
        - Instructor Escalation: If non-performance continues past the warning period, the team will submit all documented task histories and communication logs to the course instructor for intervention.
    - Resolve conflict before instructor or advisor meetings

7. Deadlines

- Expectation:
    - All team and instructor deadlines are to be met.
    - If a member has a problem meeting a deadline, contact the team and let them know.
    - The team will adjust workloads to ensure project timelines are maintained
    - Have presentations or important documents that need to be presented to an instructor or advisor completed 24 hours in advance

Unique Roles

Assigning specific roles can help streamline team operations. Below, define any unique roles, their responsibilities, the powers granted, and any changes to expectations.

a. Team Leader/Coordinator: Daniel Craig

- Responsibilities:
    - Schedule and coordinate team meetings.
    - Facilitate meetings to ensure all voices are heard.
    - Monitor project timelines and milestones.
- Powers Granted:
    - Authority to make minor decisions to keep the project on track after team consultation.
- Expectation Changes:
    - In addition to regular duties, the Team Leader will handle organizational tasks but remain equally responsible for project work.

b. Recorder/Secretary: Charles Lutz

- Responsibilities:
    - Take notes during meetings.
    - Distribute meeting minutes to all team members within 24 hours.
- Powers Granted:
    - May request clarifications during meetings to ensure accurate record-keeping.
- Expectation Changes:
    - Ensures documentation is maintained without reducing their responsibility in other project areas.

Additional Agreements

The team contract can be modified at any time based on a unanimous vote.
